 The “grands” represent a wonderfully dysfunctional, blended group—quite a departure from my son and me as only children

MHS Memories

John Stewart and I drove to compete in the State music contest in Emporia. We were late and didn’t get to warm up. I had to hit a high “C”, took a deep breath, and blasted it all over the parking lot, scaring lots of Emporia State students, but I think we got gold.

Suzi Fairbank and I sold lots of ads for the Blue M. When I sold my 1941 Ford, I found at least 100 passes we had written for ourselves. I won’t tell if you won’t!

Town Memories

In 1957, Helen A’s parents were brave enough to take me on a long trek across the western U.S., where I first glimpsed mountains and oceans. I’ve been on many VIP tours for business, but none more wonderful! When we returned home, my parents had bought the house on Edgerton—home to pizza parties for the rest of high school. I remember my mom cooking for all of us, but she made the guys bring their own milk. One slumber party after we thought the guys had gone home, we looked out the window and were shocked to see them sharing a six-pack. You know who you were!
 The Presby Church Fellowship allowed us to meet teens from all over the state. We learned church history and developed our beliefs. But seriously girls, how cool was it to learn to play pool with Sonny and Steve. Q to Ferol: How many Chef Boyardee pizzas did we make?

Travel

Multiple trips to Mexico, a few cruises. Lived in Aspen, CO and Jackson, WY before making Denver permanent home. We have ridden every narrow gauge railroad in the Rocky Mountains
